Dear Amrit

I write further to the request you made under the Freedom of Information Act 2000.

You have requested the STEP mark schemes from the years 1998 to 2014 inclusive.

Much of the information is already freely available on our website in STEP Solutions documents, which have been posted on our website each year since 2004, along with the question papers. The STEP Solutions document draws on the information in the mark scheme, but presents it in a format that is intended to be more useful to candidates preparing for the test.

From 2015, following recent, similar requests we now also publish the mark schemes on the Admissions Testing Service website. The 2015 mark scheme can be found on this page of the site:

[4]http://www.admissionstestingservice.org/... (<http://www.admissionstestingservice.org/for-test-takers/step/preparing-for-step/>)

There is also an explained example mark scheme for the 2011 STEP Paper I, which is also available on the same webpage.

Please also find attached mark schemes within the zip folder, for:

2009: STEP I, II and III

2011: STEP II *

2012: STEP I and II

2013: STEP I

2014: STEP I, II and III

*Please note: the 2011 mark scheme on the website is only for STEP 1.

With best wishes,

Saul

Dear University of Cambridge,

Please pass this on to the person who conducts Freedom of Information reviews.

I am writing to request an internal review of University of Cambridge's handling of my FOI request 'Sixth Term Examination Papers (Mathematics) - Mark Schemes'.

You have provided some of the mark schemes that I requested, for the years 2009, 2011, 2012, 2013, and 2014. However, 2010 appears to have been omitted, as well as those for 1998-2008. Given that mark schemes were presumably produced for all of these years, I am at a loss to understand why you have not either provided them or stated the reason(s) why you don't have them.

A full history of my FOI request and all correspondence is available on the Internet at this address:

Dear Amrit

Thank you for requesting an internal review of our handling of your FOI request.

I have contacted the team who compiled the set of mark schemes for you. They and I would like to apologise for not making it clear that they provided all the mark schemes that are in our possession. The others existed but were not retained after they were used and are therefore not available to provide to you. Although mark schemes would have been produced for all of these years, these were working documents used in marker training and during the marking session.

Following a similar FOI request last year, we now routinely publish the mark schemes in addition to the STEP Solutions document.

I am therefore satisfied that there is nothing further that we should provide to you

If you are unhappy with my findings then you have the right to make a formal complaint to the Information Commissioner. Their address is:

Dear Jackie Rippeth,

Please could you clarify what is meant by "not retained" - were the mark schemes physically deleted/destroyed, or have your organisation simply been unable to locate them? If they were deleted, please could you supply the approximate date of deletion (month and year will suffice), and state whether or not you have attempted to locate the mark schemes on any backup tapes or archives that you possess.

I am requesting the above information as it will assist me in determining whether I may have an arguable case before the Information Commissioner.

Yours sincerely,

Jackie Rippeth, 8 July 2016

Dear Amrit

I have obtained further information about how mark schemes were created and used and what became of them. I have summarised this below:

In the past, the mark schemes were typically produced by the principal examiner remotely, used in the training of markers and throughout the marking session, and the final versions used by the principal examiners to produce the Hints and Answers/Solutions document. We did not routinely collect the mark schemes unless they were needed to process an appeal. Hence, we have some, but not all of them on file.

By making the hints and answers document available, the intention was to reproduce much of the information contained in the mark schemes, but in a format that is more useful to students preparing for STEP.

More recently, we became aware of speculation on student forums about how each of the 20 marks for each STEP question is allocated. Much of the speculation was inaccurate. To remedy this, we published an example mark scheme on our website (STEP Paper 1 2011). We have also changed our policy relating to mark schemes, and since 2015 we routinely publish the mark schemes on our website along with the question papers, examiners' report, and solutions.

So, the simple answer is that mark schemes have not been deleted by us, as they were not routinely held by us in their original form, but were written-up and submitted to us in the form of the Hints and Answers/Solutions document.

We have also checked with our archivist and the Archives hold the Hints and Answers documents for the period 1998 to 2014 (and earlier), but not the mark schemes. Our back up system is used for recovery of operational systems and not as an archive and it has therefore not been searched.

I am therefore satisfied that there is nothing further we can provide to you.

If you are unhappy with my findings then you have the right to make a formal complaint to the Information Commissioner. Their address is:

We have since contacted our examiners and have been able to find some further mark schemes and related material. I should stress that, as with other mark schemes that we have provided previously, these are principally only drafts and working documents. The further information that has been provided to us is as follows:

2005: STEP 2 (scan of hand-annotated hard copy)
 2006: STEP 2 (three separate documents containing draft mark schemes for all questions, but not in order)
 2007: STEP 2 (two documents containing draft mark schemes for all questions, in order)
 2008: STEP 1 (version of solutions document with additional indication of mark allocation)
 STEP 2 (draft mark scheme)
 2010: STEP 1 (version of solutions document with additional indication of mark allocation)
 STEP 2 (two documents containing mark schemes for all questions, in order)
 STEP 3 (mark scheme)
 2012: STEP 3 (mark scheme)
